

48 Falcon Rd, London SW11 2LR

Why does animated food look so tasty?

I'm watching Cloudy with a Chance of Meatballs right now and just passed the cheeseburger scene and all I really want now is a huge stack of cheeseburgers.

What is it about animated food that looks so much more filling and fantastic than our own real food?

Do you have any foods from cartoons you wish were real and would eat in a heartbeat?

I want to try some of these clouds Goku is eating And a table of food he's notorious for eating all by himself

the first 2 don't even look like food

I don't see it...

Krabby Patties also look pretty good

Dude, are you high? same reason people fap to animated boobies.

It's because the food looks perfect and you don't have to prepare it yourself.

The pizza from A Goofy Movie looks amazing, And! most importantly! THE LEANING TOWER OF CHEEZA! The dream!

Holy crap dude!耶!

dab balm, she so hot and smarts

Dude, I feel the same way. That scene in Spirited Away where the parents are eating...

Because it's not edible

EDIT: FUCK

nothing that's ever looked as delicious as the imaginary food in hook. not that it's a cartoon, but fictional food is always the best looking.

Land Before Time: the thread.

Seriously, this movie got me to eat vegetables when I was a kid.

Because they can't get food in real life?

In the case of Ratatouille, they took the time to model the kitchen and dishes from the French Laundry. The final signature dish was based off of something Thomas Keller made:

I think in the case of Land Before Time it's the way they eat that looks so awesome. Over zealous and huge friggin bites.

Ratatouille food looks awesome as well. I was thinking of watching it after Cloudy.

i thought i was the only one, people need to stop drawing tentacle porn and just draw food from now on, i live

YES!

I really need to watch that movie again...

I think it's because animators always have an excuse to order food, oh I need some reference material.

how could the op not include the masters of animated food?

Lets not forget the peach from James and the Giant Peach.

Good call guys, I could have posted more if I wasn't stuck on my phone.

you win this thread

I hope to one day live in a giant peach that peach ruined peaches for me :(

The fucking bread from Aladdin. I want that fucking bread goddamn it.

I will say I definitely prefer the style of Japanese food compared to American. It might be the steam lines.

that scene always gave me a craving for waffles (with maple syrup!)

the same reason ice cream freezers in the sun prolly it's science

Everyone shut the fuck up. I win.

Chicken and turkey legs always look particularly good. Looks like they are made of all white meat or something.

Those drumsticks in Hook were legit.

why is that guy winking and motioning towards his crotch "Hey Maxi, wanna see me jack myself off with this pizza?"

YES!

even bugs look delicious

I'm not even joking

edit: oh what the hell ^^

Slimy, yet satisfying.

I'm glad real life pizza isn't liquid.

Wallace and Gromit as a kid with their cheese and crackers, good lord.

All of these!

Oh damn I forgot about the cheese in W&G!

The sound the Simpsons make while eating like porks (the old ones, as I'm aware) it's disgusting yet exciting.

haha, yes!

Tom & Jerry the thread.

I love food porn in movies in general.

There's a ton of asian movies where all of the stories revolve around cooking competitions, oh man. I think I'm going to watch one tonight.

Yikes I don't like gooey pizza

Chicken wings always look really satisfying to eat.

That steak, man.

I loved the movie, but that always looked fake to me.

This thread is so true, animated food is the best food. I loved these. Hell yeah those steaks!

And for some reason I always imagined the milk to be very sweet maybe a hint of honey.

First thing the thread reminded me of. I wouldn't mind being a pig if I could gorge myself on such delicious looking food.

I'll eat it raw. There's also those episodes in where the table is full of food, as a kid growing in a third world country that had no idea how any of that tasted, it was mesmerizing.

I'M GETTING HUNGRY NOW. DAMN IT.

Food in Asterix comics always looked incredible.

Not the best pictures, but Google failed me.

TMNT PIZZA WAS GOOD TOO...

Can't find an actual pic from Mickey's Christmas Carol, but this always did it for me:

Spongebob Krabby Patty after the show:

CHEDDDAAAAAA

Fuck this thread.

I'm so hungry now.

Same. I fucking love lettuce.

I don't think so at all

This thread is awesome! More animated food please!

I remember when I was watching Land Before Time as a kid my mom pointed out that Sharptooth weren't bad, they just wanted some meat.

As a result I felt conflicted whenever I wanted it from that point on.

I have this sudden urge to ruin my diet and go to a Chinese buffet.

Yes! Cartoon pizza. I made that comment before to someone and they looked at me like I was insane.

In the original Pokemon series they always commented on how good of a cook Brock was but it looked weird to me..

Cartoon steaks are always perfect.

It never ever does? Except beef bowl in Persona 4 anime

This is a toriko/one piece thread

that movie pretty much ruined bread for me, no matter what, real bread never tastes even half as good as what I imagine that loaf from aladdin tastes like.

I remember after I watched this movie with my mom, she was like "let's go have ramen with him in it." And we did and it was awesome. Also, in the special features for Spirited Away, there's a part where the animation team is having lunch, and they make ramen that looks so frickin good.

infinite food.

that scene always gave me a craving for waffles (with maple syrup!)

the same reason ice cream freezers in the sun prolly it's science

Everyone shut the fuck up. I win.

Chicken and turkey legs always look particularly good. Looks like they are made of all white meat or something.

Those drumsticks in Hook were legit.

why is that guy winking and motioning towards his crotch "Hey Maxi, wanna see me jack myself off with this pizza?"

YES!

even bugs look delicious

I'm not even joking

edit: oh what the hell ^^

Slimy, yet satisfying.

I'm glad real life pizza isn't liquid.

Wallace and Gromit as a kid with their cheese and crackers, good lord.

All of these!

Oh damn I forgot about the cheese in W&G!

The sound the Simpsons make while eating like porks (the old ones, as I'm aware) it's disgusting yet exciting.

haha, yes!

Tom & Jerry the thread.

I love food porn in movies in general.

There's a ton of asian movies where all of the stories revolve around cooking competitions, oh man. I think I'm going to watch one tonight.

Yikes I don't like gooey pizza

Chicken wings always look really satisfying to eat.

That steak, man.

I loved the movie, but that always looked fake to me.

This thread is so true, animated food is the best food. I loved these. Hell yeah those steaks!

And for some reason I always imagined the milk to be very sweet maybe a hint of honey.

First thing the thread reminded me of. I wouldn't mind being a pig if I could gorge myself on such delicious looking food.

I'll eat it raw. There's also those episodes in where the table is full of food, as a kid growing in a third world country that had no idea how any of that tasted, it was mesmerizing.

I'M GETTING HUNGRY NOW. DAMN IT.

Food in Asterix comics always looked incredible.

Not the best pictures, but Google failed me.

TMNT PIZZA WAS GOOD TOO...

Can't find an actual pic from Mickey's Christmas Carol, but this always did it for me:

Spongebob Krabby Patty after the show:

CHEDDDAAAAAA

Fuck this thread.

I'm so hungry now.

Same. I fucking love lettuce.

I don't think so at all

This thread is awesome! More animated food please!

I remember when I was watching Land Before Time as a kid my mom pointed out that Sharptooth weren't bad, they just wanted some meat.

As a result I felt conflicted whenever I wanted it from that point on.

I have this sudden urge to ruin my diet and go to a Chinese buffet.

Yes! Cartoon pizza. I made that comment before to someone and they looked at me like I was insane.

In the original Pokemon series they always commented on how good of a cook Brock was but it looked weird to me..

Cartoon steaks are always perfect.

It never ever does? Except beef bowl in Persona 4 anime

This is a toriko/one piece thread

that movie pretty much ruined bread for me, no matter what, real bread never tastes even half as good as what I imagine that loaf from aladdin tastes like.

I remember after I watched this movie with my mom, she was like "let's go have ramen with him in it." And we did and it was awesome. Also, in the special features for Spirited Away, there's a part where the animation team is having lunch, and they make ramen that looks so frickin good.

infinite food.

that scene always gave me a craving for waffles (with maple syrup!)

the same reason ice cream freezers in the sun prolly it's science

Everyone shut the fuck up. I win.

Chicken and turkey legs always look particularly good. Looks like they are made of all white meat or something.

Those drumsticks in Hook were legit.

why is that guy winking and motioning towards his crotch "Hey Maxi, wanna see me jack myself off with this pizza?"

YES!

even bugs look delicious

I'm not even joking

edit: oh what the hell ^^

Slimy, yet satisfying.

I'm glad real life pizza isn't liquid.

Wallace and Gromit as a kid with their cheese and crackers, good lord.

All of these!

Oh damn I forgot about the cheese in W&G!

The sound the Simpsons make while eating like porks (the old ones, as I'm aware) it's disgusting yet exciting.

haha, yes!

Tom & Jerry the thread.

I love food porn in movies in general.

There's a ton of asian movies where all of the stories revolve around cooking competitions, oh man. I think I'm going to watch one tonight.

Yikes I don't like gooey pizza

<